Acquittal Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Crown prosecutor Douglas Brown Wednesday suggested to an assize court jury that they acquit 19-year-old Terence O'Grady, charged with murder in the Jan. 3 slaying of Arlin Jackson Brown, 22, HMCS Naden, in a Vancouver basement brawl.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson said, "I don't think I could take the case away from the jury or instruct a verdict of acquittal."

Earlier, he ruled inadmissible two written statements made to police by the accused.

Let the accused tell his story without interruptions and with no prompting or cross-examination, he said.

Mr. Justice Manson said it was absolutely clear that O'Grady, the dead man, crown witness Eric Hamilton and others at a party on the night of the stabbing must have been "gloriously drunk."

Services Bossed By Union?

The armed services are taking orders from the Musicians' Union, a Junior Chamber of Commerce official claimed yesterday.

Permission for the HMCS Naden band to appear at the big "Ice Arama" Monday and Tuesday at the arena was refused by the union, said Bill Davidson, chairman of the Jaycee ice-rink fund-raising committee.

It would appear "the Musicians' Union is in a position to dictate to the armed services," he said.

The union said "we can only give clearance to projects of a charitable nature but they termed the coming show strictly a commercial venture."

But Mr. Davidson said a precedent has already been set: "The band did appear at the recent annual minor hockey league night—a show of a similar nature to the one we plan.

"This was done without charge or honorarium."

All profits from the ice show, he pointed out, will go to the proposed $148,000 ice surface behind the arena.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines is going ahead with four fast trips daily between downtown Victoria and downtown Vancouver despite continuation of a reduced ferry service, general manager Conway Parrott said yesterday.

He said Victoria departure times for the bus-and-ship trips will be 8.15 a.m., noon, 4 and 7 p.m., the complete trip taking 4½ hours in each case.

Vancouver departure times for the fast service will be 9 and 11 a.m. and 3 and 6 p.m.

Challenges Met In Fine Recital

By BERT BINNY

A large audience at Holyrood House last night was treated to a fine recital sponsored by the Victoria Musical Art Society.

The contributing artists were contralto Eleanor Duff, baritone John Dunbar and pianist Malcolm Hamilton.

Program selected was exacting, but the singers were equal to the challenges provided. Items such as Mr. Dunbar's "In Praise of Laughter" from Bach's "Aeolus" cantata are by no means easy. Similarly, he provided a wonderful demonstration of vocal flexibility in Dvorak's seven gypsy songs.

Most delightful feature of Miss Duff's performance was her outstanding clarity which gave every word its full value.

But she, like Mr. Dunbar, was faced with other problems, mostly posed by the many changes in mood and tempo between her various numbers. And she, again like Mr. Dunbar, took them all in stride.

Next concert of the Musical Art Society is set for March 18 at Holyrood House when the annual talented students' recital will be held.
